SECTION 2 – READING

Questions 31–40 | 1 mark each

Passage 1

In an age when information is available at the click of a button, the ability to distinguish reliable information from misleading content has become increasingly important. Social media platforms allow information to spread rapidly, but speed does not guarantee accuracy. A false claim can be shared thousands of times before anyone checks whether it is true.

Critical thinking requires people to question information rather than accepting it immediately. They should consider who created the information, what evidence supports it and whether other trustworthy sources confirm the claim. This does not mean that people should distrust everything they read. Instead, they should develop the habit of evaluating information carefully.

Informed citizens are not those who know everything; they are those who know how to examine information before forming conclusions.

Q31. What is the main concern expressed in the passage?

- A. Social media should be banned.
- B. Information is becoming less available.
- C. People need to evaluate information critically.
- D. People should avoid reading online content.

Q32. Why can false information spread quickly?

- A. It is always supported by evidence.
- B. Information can be shared rapidly on social media.
- C. People carefully verify everything before sharing.
- D. Reliable sources encourage false claims.

Q33. Which of the following is NOT suggested as a way to evaluate information?

- A. Checking the evidence
- B. Considering the source
- C. Comparing trustworthy sources
- D. Sharing it immediately

Q34. What does “speed does not guarantee accuracy” mean?

- A. Fast information is always false.
- B. Information spreading quickly does not mean it is correct.
- C. Accurate information is always slow.
- D. Social media cannot spread accurate information.

Q35. According to the passage, an informed citizen is someone who:

- A. knows everything
- B. believes information immediately
- C. carefully examines information before reaching conclusions
- D. avoids social media completely

Passage 2

Many cities are encouraging residents to use bicycles for short journeys. Cycling reduces traffic congestion and does not produce the exhaust emissions associated with petrol and diesel vehicles. It can also provide an opportunity for regular physical activity.

However, simply encouraging people to cycle is not enough. Cities need safe cycling infrastructure, including dedicated lanes, proper lighting and secure parking. Without such facilities, people may feel that cycling is unsafe, especially on busy roads.

The success of a cycling programme therefore depends on more than individual motivation. It requires thoughtful planning and cooperation between citizens and local authorities.

Q36. What is one major environmental benefit of cycling mentioned in the passage?

- A. It increases fuel consumption.
- B. It reduces exhaust emissions.
- C. It increases traffic.
- D. It requires larger roads.

Q37. Why might people avoid cycling in cities?

- A. Cycling is always expensive.
- B. There may not be adequate safety infrastructure.
- C. Bicycles produce too much pollution.
- D. Cycling prevents physical activity.

Q38. Which facility is NOT mentioned as necessary for cyclists?

- A. Dedicated lanes
- B. Proper lighting
- C. Secure parking
- D. Petrol stations

Q39. What does the passage imply about individual motivation?

- A. It is sufficient by itself.
- B. It is unnecessary.
- C. It needs to be supported by proper city planning.
- D. It makes cycling unsafe.

Q40. Which statement best summarises the passage?

- A. Cycling is only useful for exercise.
- B. Cities should replace all vehicles with bicycles immediately.
- C. Successful cycling programmes require both public participation and suitable infrastructure.
- D. Cycling is dangerous in every city.
